Linking to Community Maps from a County Website

This document provides information for county agencies that would like to place a link to Community Maps on their county website. Community Maps provides a parameterized URL to automatically populate the crash map with crashes for a given county and per given severity levels.

1. To link to Community Maps without any parameters, which will load a statewide crash map with fatal crashes for the current year (the default crash map), add the following link to your county website:

    http://transportal.cee.wisc.edu/partners/community-maps/crash/

2. To link to Community Maps for a specific county, use the following form:

    http://transportal.cee.wisc.edu/partners/community-maps/crash/search/redirect.do?cnty=<county> where <county> should be replaced with your county name. This will display fatal crashes for the current year for your county. A list of valid county names is provided on the next page.

3. To link to Community Maps for a specific county for all crash severity levels, use the following:

    http://transportal.cee.wisc.edu/partners/community-maps/crash/search/redirect.do?cnty=<county>&injsvr=all

    The "injsvr" parameter can also take specific K, A, B, C, and O values to restrict the crash map to one or map injury severity levels.

For example, to place a link on the La Crosse County website to launch Community Maps in a separate browser window displaying La Crosse crashes for all severity levels, add the following HTML code fragment to your web site:

Community Maps Traffic Crash Map

For additional assistance, email community-maps@topslab.wisc.edu or see the Community Maps contact page.

The following county names are supported by Community Maps. The "cnty" parameter is case insensitive (i.e., Dane, DANE, and dane are all valid parameters for Dane County).
